I. About the CLP

The Community Language Program (CLP) is a unique and integral part of the TESOL and Applied Linguistics Programs at Teachers College, Columbia University. It provides English as a second language and foreign language instruction to adult learners of diverse nationalities and backgrounds. In addition, the CLP serves as an on-site language education lab in which TESOL and Applied Linguistics faculty and students teach various courses and use the CLP as a research setting. Here at Teachers College we believe that observation and classroom research are the best way to learn about how we teach and gain insights into how teaching might take place. Thus, we encourage observation and classroom research and want people to use it as a tool for learning. Ongoing assessment and program evaluation allow us to make the CLP a better program.

II. Course Description:

The course is designed to help Intermediate level English language learners develop English listening, speaking, reading, and writing that are required for everyday life. Using a theme-based teaching approach, students will learn grammar, pronunciation, as well as relevant vocabulary to meet their communicative needs. Each instructional unit is centered on a theme in order to centralize learning, skills, and strategies associated with each particular topic.

III. Course Objectives:

After successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Speak about processes, personal experiences, and social situations (e.g., applying for a job, events) with coherent supporting ideas and relevant examples.
2. Identify main ideas, supporting details, keywords, and basic relationships in a variety of written and oral sources.
3. Use contextual clues to determine the meaning of unfamiliar words in written and oral sources.
4. Write formal and non-formal texts appropriate to task, purpose, and audience (e.g., to compare and contrast, to accept or decline requests, to persuade)
5. Use connectors, appropriate punctuation, and accurate spelling in written assignments.
6. Perceive and produce appropriate stress, intonation, and rhythm patterns in controlled pronunciation practice and assessed speaking tasks as well as in some spontaneous conversational contexts.

IV. Course Materials:

- 1) Interchange 3 Fifth Edition Student's Book. (2017). (Cambridge University Press).

X. Program Policies:

- The College will make reasonable accommodations for persons with documented disabilities. Students are encouraged to contact the Office of Access and Services for Individuals with Disabilities (OASID) for information about registering with the office. You can reach OASID by email at oasid@tc.columbia.edu, stop by 301 Zankel or call 212-678-3689. Services are available only to students who are registered and submit appropriate documentation. As your instructor, I am happy to discuss specific needs with you as well.

- It is the policy of Teachers College to respect its members' observance of their major religious holidays. Students should notify instructors at the beginning of the semester about their wishes to observe holidays on days when class sessions are scheduled. Where academic scheduling conflicts prove unavoidable, no student will be penalized for absence due to religious reasons, and alternative means will be sought for satisfying the academic requirements involved. If a suitable arrangement cannot be worked out between the student and the instructor, students and instructors should consult the Program Director. If an additional appeal is needed, it may be taken to the Provost.
- Sexual Harassment and Violence Reporting: Teachers College is committed to maintaining a safe environment for students. Because of this commitment and because of federal and state regulations, we must advise you that if you tell any of your instructors about sexual harassment or gender-based misconduct involving a member of the campus community, your instructor is required to report this information to the Title IX Coordinator, Janice Robinson. She will treat this information as private, but will need to follow up with you and possibly look into the matter. The Ombud officer for Gender-Based Misconduct is a confidential resource available for students, staff, and faculty. "Gender-based misconduct" includes sexual assault, stalking, sexual harassment, dating violence, domestic violence, sexual exploitation, and gender-based harassment. For more information, see <http://sexualrespect.columbia.edu/gender-based-misconduct-policy-students>
